

"WISER?" YES. "SADDER?" NO.

And the only free school of Virginia we have visited since violent and vicious attack was opened upon her whole system of schools, is that pride of the State, pet of Farmville, priceless gem in the school-cluster, the Virginia State Female Normal, but Dr. Southall, the "capable and honest" superintendent, Mr. Brent, his accomplished assistant, and Mr. E. C. Glass, of whom all Virginia is justly proud, have visited most of them, studied their conditions, and they have sounded their praises. Until such witnesses are discredited we are satisfied that the fair name of Virginia remains unsullied.

QUICK AS THOUGHT.

Some of our contemporaries have been declaring against Government interference with the coal strike for the reason that the process would necessarily be slow and tedious. Why so? How long would it take to decide upon the destruction of even a private home if the exigencies of battle in time of war demanded it? How much time would it take to establish rigid quarantine, no matter what the resultant sacrifice of private interest if the public weal called for it? How long would the proper authorities want to determine upon the destruction of houses to get rid of the germs of infectious diseases? And are the coal magnates to be allowed to freeze our people, when their holdings would be promptly taken from them to prevent the spread of deadly fever?

"Due process of law" is all right unless when it is death dealing, and then it is all wrong. Necessity knows no law. Foolishness knows, now for common sense and common courage.

HOME-SICKNESS.

This ailment doesn't kill and yet is generally beyond the skill of the doctors. Will-power alone combats it successfully and this we recommend to our girl friends of the Normal. Just say "I won't be homesick" and homesick you will not be. This doesn't mean that you will forget home, or those whose presence make it the "dearest spot on earth." Remember the father upon whose strong arm you have been wont to lean, and to whose good judgment you have been wont to look. Remember mother, sweet faced and saintly mother, who has been your guardian angel, your best friend. Remember the little ones who with you make the sacred circles. Remember the spring at the foot of the hill, gushing, clear, sweet and pure, or the "old oaken bucket" that hangs at the well. Remember the shade trees where you have so often found safe retreat from summer's scorching sun. Remember the rose bush which you saw crowned with a wealth of blossoms in early June, and from which you may have plucked the last rose of summer the morning you left for school. Remember all these things about home, and many, many more, but do so gladly, gratefully and not to make you sad. Fashion them into pictures, frame them artistically, hang them upon the walls of your rooms, say good night to them after you have said your prayers, and greet them joyously as you wake in the morning and then determine, God helping, that you will so do the work of school days that when you return to the homes from which you have come, they may be brightened and blessed by your presence.

No time for home-sickness now.

THE PROBLEM OF HOUSEKEEPING.

In this age of intense activities, men do not complain that efficient aid can not generally be had for factory, furnace, store and manufacturing establishments, while the problem of house-work deepens and becomes more and more complicated. An advertisement for help in bank or store and scores respond. A want for house-help and it is read to be forgotten. The clerks in bank or store rarely resign while the servant girl is always going, and this too, while man has invaded the home world, as has recently been emphasized in a magazine article of real merit, and taken from it the loom, the wash tub, the making of clothes, the knitting of socks, the art of preserving, canning, pickling and in many cases the necessity for cleaning and trimming of lamps.

What's the trouble? We invite answers from the housewives who read the Herald. It will give us great pleasure to publish replies, and perhaps together we can find out the trouble and then the remedy will not be hard to find. Something is wrong. Let's know it and then proceed to correct it.

The Pullman company has increased the pay of its conductors. The porters with tips added to salary had gotten so far ahead in the salary business that the company had its sympathies stirred for the captains.

The Richmond Times well says: "An exchange thinks the very thought of ten-dollar coal will make a man hot, but unfortunately that kind of warmth will not cook dinner and will not keep the family comfortable."

Just so, and this being so, it is high time that editors, preachers, politicians, merchants, mechanics, farmers, all men were uniting in honest effort to settle the question involved in the strike. The disgrace is already too old.

"Never before," says the New York Press, "in the history of Wall street was gambling pure and simple so rampant, so insinuating, so flagrant, and so offensive as it is today." And yet some people are simple enough to call that "prosperity."

Miss Barton, a Baltimore dress maker, died recently in that city. Her picture appeared even in the Sun, so little given to the picture business, and large space was devoted to notice of her life work. And why? Simply because she did that work better than others.

Race Prejudice in the North.

Race hatred and prejudice seem to be getting so bitter in the North that brunettes girls may be compelled to use complexion powders. It is only necessary to be suspected of relationship with the negro race to be subjected to all kind of indignities. The other day in Boston the door of a trade's union was closed upon all black faces. Then in Chicago, at the Northwestern University, the headquarters of liberty, a young colored woman who had entered the school was turned out into the street. As soon as it was discovered that she had negro blood she was expelled. But the most extraordinary thing happened at Evansville, Ind. A girl with a dark complexion entered at one of the public schools, and at once all the other children left and the teacher was confronted with empty benches. Truant officers were sent after the children, but their parents said they should not attend school with the dark-faced girl, whom they suspected of being a negro. The Board of Education took the matter up and after an investigation discovered that the girl has no negro blood. She is simply a brunette, and her parents are French. It will be well hereafter for brunettes girls, when they enter the public schools in the North, to use some kind of complexion powders. It is really painful to note the existence of such prejudices in the minds of our Northern brethren.

The problem broadens, the plot deepens, but it still remains true that "blood is thicker than water."

"Will the trusts fight Mr. Roosevelt?" The Baltimore Sun actually asks that most unnecessary question. Our answer is, of course not, for the very good reason that Mr. Roosevelt hasn't been fighting the trusts. He has only been looking for the "evil" in them, and can't find it.

It is the bad negroes who make the race problem, says the Richmond Times, and so saying said well. A million colored men of the character of Talleyrand Branch, of Farmville, would never conspire to make a "problem," and for centuries white men and such colored men could live together in perfect peace.

Two women tramps passed through Nevada, Mo., a few days ago riding on the iron rods under a box car.

A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea.

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intending a long bicycle trip," says F. L. Taylor, of New Albany, Bradford county, Pa. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea, and was about to give up the trip, when Editor W. d. of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt an ill effect. Again last summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me." Sold by The Winston Drug Co.

The process now in use for collecting tin from the waste of sheet tin by electricity is comparatively costly.

Doctors Could Not Help Her.

"I had kidney trouble for years," writes Mrs. Raymond Conner, of Shelton, Wash., "and the doctors could not help me. I tried Foley's Kidney Cure, and the very first dose gave me relief and I cannot say too much for Foley's Kidney Cure." For sale by H. C. Crute.

A Sad Disappointment.

Ineffective liver medicine is a disappointment, but you don't want to purge, strain and break the glands of the stomach and bowels. DeWitt's Little Early Risers never disappoint. They cleanse the system of all poison and putrid matter and do it so gently that one enjoys the pleasant effects. They are a tonic to the liver. Cure biliousness, torpid liver and prevent fever.—Anderson Drug Co.

One of the hard things to understand is how such nice grandmothers as everybody has ever could have been mothers, in-law.
